KIDS + ONE: Malini Ramani recently hosted a Saturday evening party with a twist in the capital. Called the 'Mad Hatters party', the do saw some of the guests walk in wearing different kinds of hats, accompanied by their kids, who were dressed as various literary characters. The mothers chatted over special drinks made by Malini, while a magic show kept the kids engrossed. We also spotted designer Namrata Joshipura after a long time, accompanied by her daughter Ananya. She told us, "I just don't get the time to step out for events like these anymore. But this one was special, because for a change, my daughter was interested in going. This is her day out and not mine."

PEHCHAAN KAUN? The centre of attraction was Priti Paul, who was dressed as the Red Queen from Alice In Wonderland. In fact, most of her friends and other guests couldn't even recognize her and were rather surprised when she called out to them. She later told us, "It's fun to have such events, because then you actually make an effort to participate and to do something different." Anchal Tuli
